BROADWAY BYPASS WILD FLOWER PROJECT – 'PROJECT INOCULUM'

Woodruff

Bluebell

Primrose

When the Broadway Bypass was constructed in the 1990s, a large plantation of native broad-leaved trees was included in the landscaping on Fish Hill (OS Map Reference of two large areas SP105382 and SP108377). The trees are now growing well, the canopy is beginning to close and the plantation makes an excellent ecological link with the remaining mature woodlands on this part of the Cotswold scarp. It represents a measure of ecological enhancement on a part of the ridge which lost much woodland cover in the past.

The Broadway Natural History Society (BNHS) is keen to see this developing woodland augmented with native woodland herb flora such as bluebell, primrose, woodruff and other native plant species, which could take many hundreds of years to arrive if left to the processes of natural dispersal. The published literature makes it clear that such species disperse very slowly through the landscape.

However, many of them will grow easily from seed or plant plugs if deliberately introduced.

Dr Paul Smith has been liaising, on behalf of the society, with Worcestershire County Council, seeking permission to introduce a small amount of woodland flora of appropriate provenance into this roadside plantation as a village contribution to the current International Year of Biodiversity. The intention is to distribute some wildflower seed and plant plugs of five native species as an inoculum and leave them to see if they establish. For this reason the project has been dubbed 'Project Inoculum'. Cody Levine, the County Ecologist, has lent support to the project and it has the potential to provide a legacy for future villagers and visitors who may one day find themselves looking from the road into mature woodland with a colourful ground flora.

WELCOME TO MARK PHILLIP SORENSON

Cllr Liz Eyre writes:

Some of you might have read the full page obituary in the Times earlier in the year about the life of Jorgen Philip-Sorensen CBE (JPS), who died in January. He was a remarkable businessman who I met on several formal occasions over the years. His passing was the end of an era for Broadway and I know many local residents have links with the businesses he built on the Farncombe Estate possibly as employer, customer or supplier. Although it is nearly 10 years since 'Group 4' moved away and changed their name, many of us still describe the location fondly as 'Group 4'. A merger with Securicor created G4S, who still rent Farncombe House and the surrounding buildings as offices - which has particularly benefitted some of the local accommodation providers over the years.

What used to be the Group 4 Training School towards the bottom half of the Estate has been transformed into the Cotswold Conference Centre and is known as the Farncombe Estate Centre for the weekends. The Philip-Sorensen family has recently announced a £3.5M investment in expanding the accommodation on site showing their commitment to the long term future of the conferencing venue. On hearing the news of this significant investment on the Estate, I was keen to meet the new owners and recently met Mark Philip-Sorensen to discuss his vision for the future and how it fitted with the needs of Broadway. I was very pleased to hear the commitment the family have for the Estate, their employees and local suppliers. There is a genuine desire to build on the success of the past and invest for the future. There will be challenges ahead for the management team, but I sense there will be some exciting new opportunities for local people in the future.

Squash That Rumour!

Linda of Mario Hairstylist would like to assure her Broadway customers that, contrary to rumour, she is not closing down and will continue to give her usual excellent service.

REPORT FROM THE HEADMISTRESS - ST MARY'S CATHOLIC SCHOOL

When I look back over the last three months that have passed since the start of the school year, it is clear that this has been a very busy and important term. Once again, the SA's results achieved by our pupils were outstanding, a fact that was recognised by the Ofsted team who visited the school earlier in the year and judged the school to be a "good school." They identified a number of areas where the work of the school was outstanding, namely, achievement and standards, pupils' behaviour and safeguarding. We welcomed three new teachers and a wonderful reception class. Despite all of this good news I am delighted to say that the school has not "rested on its laurels, evidenced by: superbly attended Parents' evenings, academic performance that shows our pupils to be working hard and making excellent progress; the launch of our new Learning Platform; and numerous trips and visits. Visitors including Mr Peter Luff have commented on our excellent school.

However, as we prepare for Christmas, the most precious gift that we have to give to others and to God is the gift of our own lives. We can become so busy at this time of year, that we could miss the treasures that lie in each child at St. Mary's. Each child being precious and priceless, something that can clearly be seen as we head straight for Christmas productions and carol services. The children can only be described as amazing, wonderful, delightful and such a joy to be around at this time of year.

Finally, on behalf of the Governors staff and pupils at St. Mary's, I would like to wish a Happy and Peaceful Christmas to all of the readers of Broadway Newsletter.

The Newsletter has received the following letters which raises several interesting points –we will be very happy to print your thoughts on the topics raised. For example, do you feel that the present location of the TIC means that there is now less opportunity for people to see what is on offer in the village? And what do you think about using the Green for a greater variety of events? And where might we place a board where events could be advertised well in advance? What about the appearance of the High Street in general?

Dear Editor

I was very interested in ‘Broadway - Real Village or Film Set?’ (issue 26). I do so agree with Clare Balding’s statement. Often, it appears that there is nothing happening in our village. I would like to see Broadway become more lively but I have no doubt that there are a lot of people who would prefer to keep the village the way it is now.

Most of the residents are aware that there are many groups of people who do run clubs and events. They also know how hard it is to make the general public aware of what is happening. It is almost impossible to find places to display a poster or other advertising where everyone can see it. When the TIC was in the Arcade, its window was always full of interesting information and many people, both residents and visitors, would go there to find out what was going on. Now, even shops are discouraged from putting posters in their windows. In my opinion, if Broadway people do want their village to seem real, one thing that might help would be somewhere to put up posters in the village centre so that they could be seen 24/7. The newsletter does advertise many of our events but it is only seen by residents, the TIC is only open for limited hours each week and the notice board in the Car Park is only seen by people who come in their cars. Would it be so terrible to have some kind of board to display information, for everyone, somewhere near the Green?

Maybe we could also start some new things? Perhaps we could have more events on the Green. When the Green is used for an event, musicians are allowed to play there, but I have never seen musicians, apart for those who play for the Morris Dancers, at other times. I would be very happy to see and hear musicians there. Could we have a brass band playing sometimes? Are there any other people who would come and entertain for a while? I am sure many residents and visitors alike would appreciate some music or street theatre occasionally. Maybe there are local people who would like to perform in some way. However, if anything like this ever did happen, we would certainly want to advertise what was going to happen and when and where, so it would be even more important to have an information board.

Thank you for reading my letter and thank you for highlighting this disturbing opinion of Broadway.

Yours sincerely

Valerie M. Williams

To the Editor

I don't wish to encourage the Newsletter to become a forum for gripes, but....

Clare Balding obviously didn't notice the proliferation of A-boards (some with incorrect spelling or errant apostrophes, and some in dangerous positions), the tacky chairs and tables on the pavements, the rails of SALE clothes on the pavements, and the four foot high plastic ice cream cone.

I hear we are threatened with hanging baskets next!

We must not allow Broadway to become like Bourton-on-the-Water.

Twelfth Night Concert in aid of St Eadburgha's

Thursday 6th January at 7.00 pm at St Michael's
Tickets £16 unreserved Peter Medhurst is again bringing down a group of singers and musicians to give us a special end of Christmas delight, with a serious first half and a light second half. The appeal in 2009 was for the post-flood restoration; this year's proceeds will go towards the continuing upkeep of the fabric of this fine old church, the only grade 1 listed building in Broadway. Epiphany cake and mulled wine will be served as usual in the interval.

LECTURE IN AID OF THE RNLI

Friday 4th February, 2011 at 11.00am at the Lygon Arms
Tickets £7

Tim Porter, who is well known as a lecturer to many of you, will give an illustrated talk on the theme of 'Who were our first tourists? Medieval pilgrims in Worcestershire'.

Coffee and biscuits will be served beforehand.

ORAL HISTORY PROJECT

Kirsty Cash and Helen Gray of the Evesham Volunteer Centre are running a local history project. They would like to hear from any older residents of any of the local villages who would be willing to record their memories of growing up in their village, and about life as it was then. Kirsty and Helen will come and visit you at home by appointment, and will record the interviews, which will probably last for about an hour.

If you are interested, please call Kirsty Cash at the Evesham Volunteer Centre on 01386-40165, or leave your details with Neil Hilton on 01386-858054, who will pass them on.

A WORD OF CAUTION ABOUT BONFIRES

Bonfires are a part of rural life, but they can cause problems for residents and visitors alike and should only be used as a means of disposing rubbish as a last resort. In Broadway, where local jobs and businesses are highly dependent on visitors, it is even more important to be very careful when lighting a bonfire. There have been reports of bonfires in the village where not only smoke but also the accompanying smell has been unpleasant and does not show the village in a favourable light.

For anyone considering having a bonfire, please look at the Wychavon District Council website at www.wychavon.gov.uk/cms/pdf/wdc-env-factsheet-bonfire-control-042010.pdf

If you wish to report a bonfire that is creating a nuisance, then please call:

01386 565015 9am-5pm Monday-Friday, or 08450 568035 in the evening or at the weekend

You can also call Chris Brooks, Chairman of the Broadway Visitor Management Group, on 01386 565343 if you wish to discuss this further.
