Arts Festival For Broadway?

Plans are gradually taking shape for a series of bi-annual Arts festivals in Broadway, starting in June 2010. The inspiration for them is John Singer Sargent's famous painting, 'Carnation, Lily, Lily, Rose'. This great work, which you can see hanging in Tate Britain, was painted in the mid-1880s when Sargent was staying in Broadway as part of a group of American artists who had 'discovered' the Cotswolds.

The Festivals will be a wonderful opportunity to showcase the village as a high quality Arts destination in a wider sense locally, regionally, nationally and also internationally and help support and develop creative industry in the village.

There will be a community launch later this year when those who feel enthused by this project and would like to become involved will be able to register their interest. If you have a particularly strong skill and would like to get involved sooner, please contact the Broadway Newsletter and we will put you in touch with the right person.

Broadway's Tree of Light

Broadway's first Tree of Light celebration, commemorating names dear to residents, was an illuminating success despite a late start. It ended on 6th January. Some £600 (a minimum of £5 per name) was raised for the County Air Ambulances, leaving £50 to go towards the next celebration. Thanks are due to many but particularly to Rev Terry Mason for service of dedication and switching on of lights, David and Nigel Robertson, who kindly erected the lights, and Neil Hilton, who supplied the power.

Those commemorated were as follows: John & Olga King, Denis Conroy, Mary Watson Anne Monkman, Joe & Alice Chamberlain, Eileen & Dennis Prior, William Kimbsley, Phillip Martin, Thelma Gliddon, David Nicholls, Steven Barnett, Sandra Barnett, Elsie & Alfred Barnett, Gelarda Sosipel, George & Anne Pacey, Michael Hackett, Frederick Totterdell, Patrick Plunkett, Kathleen Knight Adams, Gerard Knight Adams, Anne Girling, Audrey Harper, Dr Mockler, Ron Stock, Sylvia Keen, Geoffrey (Tink) Smith, Peter Wright, Edith Harris, Jack Megar, Noel Thorneycroft, Florence Danks, Evelyn Paget, Blanche Anderson, Jane Williams, Rosalind Ann Stephen, Geoffrey P. Smith, Sylvia Keen, Jack Cooke, Brian Cooper, Wilf Gillett, Jane Mahon, Wendy Firkins, Joe & Beatrice Beck, Lily A. ## Broadway Wins Another Competition!

Dear Dog Owners,

Congratulations ! You have won yet another competition for Broadway. One visiting traffic warden recently remarked that Broadway's dog fouling must be the worst in Worcestershire. He said it's the worst place he visits; even Malvern and Droitwich are much cleaner. So if when you are out and about on the highways and byways (where you can't be seen) and your dog does its bit for Broadway, for hygiene's sake – please pick it up !

Not a dog- hater.

FROM THE PARISH COUNCIL

Flood Prevention Drop-in Session at the Lifford Hall

It was good to see so many residents at this event, which allowed the Environmental Agency Team to show the proposed plans and also gave the residents the opportunity to air their views. The good news is that the flood risk management projects, which include Broadway, have now been granted funding. The Environmental Agency will shortly be producing a newsletter giving an update on progress.

Grit Bins

The recent cold and snowy weather highlighted the need for more grit bins in Broadway. The Parish Clerk has asked the Highways Department for assessments on several roads in the village, which he hopes will result in the installation of new bins.

Proposals for the Shear House Car Park Site

Wychavon District Council is hoping to build 10-14 new homes on this site, which will go some way to providing much-needed affordable housing in Broadway. The developer, Rooftop Housing Group Ltd, will be working closely with the Planning Department on design matters and with the Parish Council to address concerns about pedestrian safety on the site. The scheme also includes a proposal for the demolition of the WC block and its re-siting near the Fire Station.

A big thank you to Terry Reid, who is now managing the bundling of our newsletter to our team of volunteer deliverers.

WHAT'S ON AT BROADWAY LIBRARY?

Easter Egg Hunt (for the under-12s)

All you have to do is:-

- Make 3 visits to the Library before 30th March
- Take out 2 books at each visit
- Come along on Monday 6th April and join in the Easter Egg Hunt!

Free Coffee and Look Round the Library

Everyone is welcome to come to the Library for a free coffee and look at what is on offer on Saturday 14th March or Saturday 18th April.

Internet Instruction

Free instruction on using the Internet is available. Just have a word with one of the Librarians and they can organise a date and time for you.

GREAT NEWS: LOTTERY BID IS SUCCESSFUL!

At our third attempt, we have been awarded Lottery money which will enable us to buy some extra equipment. We will now be able to put in a "Vitality Station" suitable for use by older children and adults (yes!) as well as enlarge the Toddlers area with extra equipment and seating.

This is great news; however we could still do with some more donations from generous villagers and local companies – every £50 is appreciated and will be put to good use: you would be surprised how much a litter bin costs! The committee take great heart from private donations which encourage us to continue to do the very best we can for this exciting project. We know that this Park will be enjoyed by the whole village so if you would like to be associated with it, please get in touch with Kevin Beasley, Clerk to the Parish Council, at 5 Russell Square, Broadway.

Thank you - the Broadway Village Activity Park committee

Bertie's Banter

Watch out Broadway ladies, Bertie is full of the joys of spring! After the depths of winter we now have the promise of the bulbs bursting forth, the sap rising in the trees, and the green shoots of economic recovery (not the last one, obviously).

There is so much to look forward to here in our lovely village. Let us throw off the drab robes of winter and don colourful summer shorts and mini-skirts - even if only metaphorically, depending on the state of varicose veins and knobby knees, of course.

Bertie is driven to almost blood-curdling frenzy by the prospect of two major developments coming to Broadway soon. The first, need I say, is the opening of the new theme park (formerly swings and things, formerly the Rec.). The thought of playing basketball, traversing the sky net and climbing the wall, fills Bertie with an almost vertigo-like swoon. But - and here Bertie fears he must enter the murky world of politics - what form will the opening ceremony take and who will be doing the ceremonial cutting of the tape?

Bertie would like to decline the honour before it is even offered to him. No, it must go to more worthy benefactors. Perhaps the committee members who have driven the idea from the start should each be given a pair of scissors? Or what about a village youngster? Whatever, it will be a day of festivity and feasting unmatched in the history of Broadway.

The second eagerly-awaited arrival is not the wheelie-bin, as some of the more cynical might have thought: it is the idea to hold an Arts Festival in the village. Bertie has only heard vague whisperings of such an event being planned for 2010 but it has already made him queasy with anticipation. Cheltenham may have its Literary Festival but can little old Broadway one day become the centre of the high arts?

Perhaps we can combine two events in one - and have a painted wheelie-bin competition to get things going. Bertie is even now preparing to decorate his bins in oils - one in the style of Caravaggio, one suggestive of the school of Titian and a third will tip the hat towards the more modern style of Georges Braque. Ah, truly we live in wonderful times.
